CURRENT EVENTS

Gobble, Gobble!!!

This week has been full of Halloween/Fall activities. It was also Red Ribbon Week and the students really enjoyed each themed day. We were surprised to see some snow on Halloween morning and were able to color our weather graph as snowy. Today is the first day of November and we will be getting ready for Thanksgiving! The pumpkin drop was today! It was a blast seeing our Scarecrow pumpkin being thrown off the roof! Mrs. Leckrone is a brave lady to stand on the roof and throw our pumpkins off. Next week we will begin our Thanksgiving activities and will be discussing what we are thankful for.

SCHOOL PICTURES

Pictures were sent home last week. If you saw the Class Picture, it was printed as 0th grade. Lifetouch will be reprinting those pictures.

Tuesday, November 14 will be our Picture Retake Day. Please let me know if your child will be getting retakes and send the picture packet back to school with them.

Mickey's Birthday - Need of Cheese!

Thank you to the parents who signed up to send supplies for our Mickey Mouse celebration that will be on Monday, November 18th! I'll be sending home reminders of your donation items soon.

We are still in need of a package of SWISS cheese. If you would like to donate, please let me know. Thanks!

Just a Reminder:

With the weather turning colder please remember to send a warm coat with your child. (name inside). Many have been bringing light jackets or hoodies and they are very cold at recess. Also, have your child practice putting their coats on and zipping them on their own! With 20 students, there is no way I can assist all of them with coats and get them out to recess in a timely manner.
